

RACHEL CARSON & THE "POLITICAL" SCIENCE OF TODAY

A theatrical presentation by Joanne T. Vannah

Saugus Public Library
Wednesday, February 26, 2014
6:30 PM in the Community Room

In 1962, through the publication of "Silent Spring," the world became aware of the adverse health effects of pesticides. Despite this fact, more than 50 years later these seemingly understood lessons appear forsaken. In this theatrical presentation, Ms. Carson appears straight from the 1960s to provide insight into the present day controversy surrounding Genetically Modified Organisms (GMOs) in our food products.

Responsible vs. irresponsible science is the key point and will be conveyed in an enjoyable and accessible manner. Please join us.
